HOBBIES

My hobbies in crochet, crafting polymer clay accessories, and reading allow me to develop skills that are both personally enriching and professionally valuable. Crochet and polymer clay crafting involve precision, creativity, and attention to detail, which have honed my patience and problem-solving abilities. These activities also encourage a steady focus on design and aesthetics, which I bring into my professional projects. Additionally, my love for reading continually broadens my perspective, keeping me open to new ideas and learning opportunities. Together, these hobbies contribute to a balanced and creative approach in all that I do.
